Subject: Economics Outline Discussion

Hi Everyone,

There are some new members that have joined the team to describe the economics of the Bristol bay salmon resource. John Duffield, an economist with the University of Montana, has been brought on board to lead this effort. The main goal of this meeting will be to introduce everyone, discuss skills and availability, and make a plan for where to go from here.

For Anchorage folks, we can meet at either ISER (Diplomacy Building) or ENRI (Beatrice McDonald Hall). I'll send an update as soon as I hear from Toby and Gunnar on their preference.

Thanks, Becky
